Industrial Hygiene: Fundamentals and Sampling Courses

Fundamentals of Industrial Hygiene

Industrial Hygiene is the science of anticipating, recognizing, evaluating, preventing, and controlling environmental factors arising in or from the workplace which may cause sickness or impaired health among people in the workplace or community. Designed specifically for working professionals who want to expand their knowledge and expertise, this course provides a solid basis for understanding and appreciating the tasks performed by Industrial Hygienists. Lunch is provided. Course begins at 8 AM on Monday, August 10, 2015.

Industrial Hygiene Sampling

This course provides an introduction to industrial hygiene sampling approaches, with detailed instructions on frequently used methods. Hands-on activities include pump calibration, sampler replacement, and using selected direct-reading instruments. Lunch is provided and ABIH points are available. Course begins at 1 PM on Wednesday, August 12, 2015.

Registration

To receive the early registration discount, register by July 6th, 2015. Sorry, no exceptions. Regular registration lasts until July 20th, 2015. The fee is the same for each class individually, but sign up for both courses and receive a HUGE discount!

Single Course - $695 Early Registration, $795 Regular Registration, $895 Late Registration
Both Courses - $1000 Early Registration, $1100 Regular Registration, $1200 Late Registration
